GUEST ROOMS & SUITES:

The 260-room Waldorf Astoria Shanghai on the Bund comprises two connecting buildings. The Waldorf Astoria Club (heritage building), which previously housed the renowned Shanghai Club (famed as an exclusive Gentlemen's Club in the 1920s), is located at No. 2 on the Bund. Across an immaculate courtyard is a new-build contemporary tower located parallel to the Bund, on Sichuan Road. The Waldorf Astoria Club has 20 luxuriously appointed suites while the Waldorf Astoria Tower has 240 rooms and suites, including a Noble Suite and a Presidential Suite.

All rooms and suites are decorated in timeless style and with chic amenities, each well appointed for the 'better than home' mood, with walk-in closet, marble-finished bathroom featuring double vanity area with bathtub, and both rainforest and handheld showers, in-room entertainment, and more. Complimentary in-room internet access and coffee/tea making facilities provide that added convenience. Almost half of the room inventory overlooks the scenic Bund while others enjoy heritage views.

WALDORF
ASTORIA CLUB:

Waldorf Suites

Step into olden-day glamour and contemporary luxuries when you enter the parlour of the Waldorf Suite. The light, colonial interior is complemented by painted plaster walls, white painted timber panelling and wood floor, with dark mahogany traditional furniture in silver neutral fabric palette.

The welcoming living room provides ample lounging space. Decorated in classic European style with timber flooring, the living room is the epitome of fine hospitality, and especially so with a selection of Christoflé glassware to serve and delight. The latest LED flat screen, sound bar and built-in DVD player (blue ray) will empower you with the modern indulges in a historical glamour.

The bedroom features the Waldorf poster bed – a romantic, wooden frame canopy bed with high mattress topped with pristine linens and plush pillows, for you to sink into luxurious oblivion. Fine draping on the poster bed completes the mood for opulence. A fully fitted walk-in closet provides privacy and comfort all at once.

The bathroom has a checker board heated floor in richly grained stone, perfectly synergized with a heritage style, wood frame double vanity, clawfoot bathtub and shower room and TV in the mirror.

Walking through the Waldorf Suite is a breeze, for its 3.8m ceiling height gives the added airiness and spatial extent. A spacious study provides a personal space for reading or surfing the net – back to basics or state-of-the-art, from iPod amusements to InnCom personalized convenience, where you can pre-set your preferred room temperature and suitable lightings, and with the window shades drawn against the late-morning sun or opened to view the kaleidoscopic splendour of the Huang Pu skyline.

24-hour Residential Butler service and a dedicated Concierge Lounge are available for Waldorf Suite guests, for service information, bookings, arrangements and more.

EVENTSFACILITIES:

Within the Waldorf Astoria Club and directly facing the Bund, the stunning ballroom, complemented by individual viewing balconies, has the unique advantage of having the city's famous waterfront promenade as a backdrop for the most spectacular wedding or high society event in Shanghai.

Warm neutral painted ceiling heavily articulated with white, heritage cake work mouldings, and dark timber wainscot panelling make this ballroom very rich and traditional. The ceiling plaster work is accented with champagne leaf and complemented with heritage style, crystal chandeliers. The exquisiteness of these chandeliers is enhanced by floor-to-ceiling elegant French windows and classically coloured black-out curtains, with coordinating crystal wall sconces dotting the surrounding walls.

The European styled ballroom has a modular design that enables versatile configurations for a variety of large and small events. Complementing this crown jewel in the Waldorf Astoria Club are two smaller ballrooms – Diplomats Hall and Council Hall – for other events needs.

Across the courtyard, within the Waldorf Astoria Tower, are eight other impressive boardrooms for events of various sizes, be it an executive conference, a board meeting, strategic brainstorming, media interview or VIP hospitality.

In addition, complimentary wireless internet access in the meeting and public areas allow you to stay connected and informed.

Events that require the use of an outdoor venue will find the Hotel's landscaped courtyard an ideal choice. Beautifully manicured greenery and charming fountains bring to life the alfresco splendour within a cosmopolitan city. Our dedicated Events Team is also at hand to plan and organize any outside catering at various off-site venues.

Banquet choices range from Western menus to traditional Chinese cuisines, with choices for those preferring fusion tastes. And if you have specific favourites in mind for your event or function, our culinary team is at hand to tailor make a unique menu that's yours and yours alone. Special themed banquets are available, with a professional team attending to every detail.

RESTAURANTS, LOUNGES & BAR:

An array of three restaurants, two lounges and a bar brings together the epitome of fine dining and chic socializing. From all-day dining and authentic Chinese to French specialities, our restaurants serve up a good variety to suit every palate. For light meals, meetings-over-drinks and afternoon teas, our two lounges – including The Peacock Alley that will be the talk of town like its namesake in New York, are ideal options. The Long Bar, renowned to have the longest bar counter in the Far East back in the 1910s, will be perfect for business entertainment and to chill out in the evenings.

Long Bar

The Shanghai Club (former club that occupied the current Waldorf Astoria Club premises) was famed for its Long Bar, an impressive 34m bar counter and longest in the Far East back in the early days of the 1910s. Today, the original Long Bar design is resurrected in this space, with every element of the bar and wall panelling carefully studied and reproduced from photographic records. The overall style is dark timber panelling with light stone tops and rich, dark masculine furniture.

Long Bar offers a wide range of spirits, including a good selection of cocktails as well as Waldorf Astoria classics done in the original way. An extensive choice of single malt whiskies and beers is available. For those who enjoy their cigars every now and then, Long Bar offers a selection of premium Cuban cigars.

Bringing back one of the luxuries of the olden days is the Oyster Bar, which also features creative tidbits. Our gastro pub food selection adds a touch of fun and attitude to bar grub's classics, with fresh salads and crusty sandwiches for quick business lunches and party platters to share on a night out.

With one end of the bar enjoying the stunning view of the Bund Promenade, guests can also move to the rhythm and blues brought to you by regular entertainers and the resident deejay. Jazz music adds to the soul of this truly classic bar.

Salon de Ville

Formerly the news room where the Shanghai Club members read their papers, catch up over the latest news and smoke a pipe, Salon de Ville is now one of the more 'feminine' areas of the Waldorf Astoria Club heritage building, with clusters of traditional sofa seating and traditional china cabinets: The colour scheme in Salon de Ville is more cheerful and vivid, with cabernet tones accented with gold, brown and some green:

Salon de Ville is the ideal spot for guests to enjoy coffee, the Red Velvet Afternoon Tea that features the famous red velvet cupcake and a series of variations or a glass of Champagne with friends: It also serves an assortment of premium cheeses and an exquisite dessert selection for an after-dinner relaxed finishing: And true to its new-found name, guests can comfortably relax with famous views of the city – Pudong and the Bund:

Pelham's

Pelham's is the Waldorf Astoria Shanghai on the Bund's signature fine dining destination where Chef Jean-Philippe Dupas features modern French cuisine. Chef Dupas is a master at maintaining the essence of ingredients while using them inventively to produce the best flavors. Chef Dupas presents exquisitely crafted dishes in his seasonal, ever-changing menu for Pelham's.

Named after Sir Warren Pelham, the British Consul General who launched the exclusive Shanghai Club for gentlemen in 1910, the intimate restaurant is situated at the very same address on the Bund as the legendary Shanghai Club of yesteryear. Within the stately heritage ambience of Waldorf Astoria Shanghai on the Bund, Pelham's restaurant emanates warmth, intimacy and elegance, without being overly formal.

A floating glass exhibition kitchen anchors the main dining area, creating a sense of theatre and dynamism. The walk-in wine display, which doubles as a unique private dining suite, offers a global selection of over 500 fine wines and vintage Champagnes.

Pelham's elegant and intimate dining room, impeccable service, authentic modern French Cuisine and extensive wine list with classic old vintages and excited boutique wines all contribute to an unforgettable dining experience.

Pelham's offers an à-la-carte menu and a seven-course tasting menu with a collection of the chef Dupas' signature dishes. The à-la-carte and tasting menu are available Monday through Sunday for dinner. The restaurant offers a three-course lunch menu on weekdays for terrific value.

Wei Jing Ge Chinese Restaurant

Wei Jing Ge is a contemporary Chinese restaurant that features a collection of interesting Chinese reproduction antiques and art displays as if one has stumbled into a forgotten attic. Open rafter wood ceilings enhance the 'attic' ambiance which is also accented with iconic Chinese lattice work. The central corridor features contemporary, back lit walls that showcase Chinese 'treasures' and interesting finds.

The Chinoiserie interior design further complements the heritage structure of the Waldorf Astoria Club to create a luxury dining environ. The six private rooms are individually furnished and designed, with a dedicated lounge area and washrooms.

Wei Jing Ge serves authentic regional Chinese delicacies, including Shanghainese, Cantonese and Huai Yang cuisines to entice even the most discerning palates. The restaurant also features a wine cellar of some 500 bottles of wine, each handpicked by the resident sommelier, in addition to an extensive selection of Chinese liqueurs and spirits as well as fine teas.

Leading the culinary team in Wei Jing Ge is Chef Sam Yuen from Hong Kong, who has had over 25 years of experience in the field.

Grand Brasserie

The Grand Brasserie brings a chic, sophisticated vibe to the heart of Shanghai's Bund area. Lavish marble columns, polished wooden tables and cushioned lounges re-create a modern Manhattan brasserie setting inspired by the original Waldorf=Astoria in New York City. True to its setting, the Brasserie menu features the flavours of a Fine European Brasserie with market-driven, seasonal ingredients prepared in a simple yet elegant style.

There is an open kitchen, where guests can sit back and watch the show from breakfast until late night dinner. Floor-to-ceiling windows overlook an interior courtyard garden, providing a sense of peaceful retreat in urban Shanghai. For more private gatherings, two stunning private rooms are available, each seating up to 10 guests. Two additional private dining areas in the wine cellar are perfect for wine tastings and intimate dinners.

Favourites are the Waldorf Truffle Salad, Roasted Tuna, and Steaks to share and Warm Marble Chocolate Cake. Lunch prix fixe and dinner early birds specials are available on weekdays while on Sundays the restaurant hosts Shanghai's most celebrated Champagne brunch.

Peacock Alley

A variation of its namesake restaurant in Waldorf=Astoria New York, our modern and elegant Peacock Alley is a lounge that serves beverages and food. It is an upscale lounge that orchestrates the perfect symphony of Waldorf Astoria's classic surroundings and fresh contemporary ambiance for quick meals, afternoon teas, and a sweet break before the next round of shopping or an informal business meeting. Guests will be delighted to enjoy the Waldorf Astoria signature dishes available.

A sense of procession and parade is the fundamental basis of Peacock Alley, where one can see and be seen. Small clusters of seating break up the long promenade to provide intimate venues of gathering.

The café area features classic manual coffee machines while a feature bar counter is tucked in the far corner of Peacock Alley for a sense of privacy. A champagne display showcases a good selection of exquisite champagnes. An enclosed void offers a dramatic, visual connection from Peacock Alley into the dynamic Grand Brasserie open kitchen below.

Location:	Waldorf Astoria Tower Lobby Level
